STUDY BACKGROUND

A leading global travel aggregator partnered with Markelytics to decode the evolving post-pandemic traveler mindset, exploring how leisure travelers plan, choose, and experience holidays amid shifting priorities of safety, flexibility, cost, and experience diversity.

BUSINESS OBJECTIVE

To understand evolving traveler motivations and perceptions that could guide marketing and product strategy for a global travel platform, helping the brand refine its positioning, optimize loyalty programs, and build stronger narratives aligned with new traveler expectations.

RESEARCH OBJECTIVE

- Assess travel confidence and booking intent for 2023
- Identify key triggers for destination discovery
- Evaluate the impact of dynamic pricing and cancellation flexibility on booking decisions

TIMELINE

TARGET RESPONDENTS

Leisure travelers aged 17–55 years, taking at least two leisure trips annually

CHALLENGES & HOW WE OVERCAME THEM

Challenge: Recruiting active international travelers across multiple markets within a tight fieldwork timeline.

Solution: Leveraged Markelytics' proprietary global panel and partner panel. Soft-launch validations were conducted in each geography to ensure representative distribution by trip type, destination preference, and travel recency, achieving both speed and precision in data collection.
